

Indonesian Government's Policy on Foreign Investment

written by Chandradip News24 | October 27, 2024

The Indonesian government has announced a new policy regarding foreign investment. This policy aims to attract more foreign capital into the country, particularly in the sectors of infrastructure, technology, and manufacturing. The government believes that this will create jobs and stimulate economic growth. The policy also includes measures to protect local industries and ensure that foreign investment benefits the Indonesian economy.

The government (led by President Jokowi) has announced a new policy regarding foreign investment. This policy aims to attract more foreign capital into the country, particularly in the sectors of infrastructure, technology, and manufacturing. The government believes that this will create jobs and stimulate economic growth. The policy also includes measures to protect local industries and ensure that foreign investment benefits the Indonesian economy.

The government has announced a new policy regarding foreign investment. This policy aims to attract more foreign capital into the country, particularly in the sectors of infrastructure, technology, and manufacturing. The government believes that this will create jobs and stimulate economic growth. The policy also includes measures to protect local industries and ensure that foreign investment benefits the Indonesian economy.

The government has announced a new policy regarding foreign investment. This policy aims to attract more foreign capital into the country, particularly in the sectors of infrastructure, technology, and manufacturing. The government believes that this will create jobs and stimulate economic growth. The policy also includes measures to protect local industries and ensure that foreign investment benefits the Indonesian economy.

□□□□ □□□□ □□□□ □□□□□□ □□□□□□ □□□□□□ □□□□□□□□□□ □□□□
□□□ □□□□ □□□□